Kidnaped Baby Restored To Parents In Touching Scene; Ex-Strip Teaser Arrested

Durant, Okla. (AP) — The young parents of a weekend kidnaping victim got their boy back yesterday in a touching family scene on a southern Oklahoma doorstep.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Duane Stammer didn't say a word. The pretty mother folded the baby in her arms, her sailor husband wrapped them both in his and for three brief minutes they shut out the world.

Big Three Meeting Set For December

Washington (AP) — A diplomatic official said last night President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and French Premier Joseph Laniel have agreed to meet in Bermuda during early December to review Western strategy against Communists.

This official said the meeting already has been arranged and will be announced formally in the three Western capitals soon.

The main purpose of the top-level parley, he said, will be to discuss Germany's future in the light of Russia's flat refusal to attend any meeting aimed at German unification.

Prime Minister Churchill's desire for a top-level meeting with Premier Malenkov may come up also. But, this informant said the main emphasis of the meeting will be on starting a long-term Western policy toward Germany.

Prime Minister Churchill is reported to have suggested the meeting to President Eisenhower within the past few days in an effort to make certain Western policies are coordinated to face Russia's apparent unwillingness to name any concessions to the West.

Wiley Urges Continental Base Speedup

Park Falls, Wis. (AP) — Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) called last night for a speedup in continental defenses which he said now have America's chief retaliatory force—long-range, atomic-armed bombers—open to destruction by surprise attack.

Wiley, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in a speech at an American Legion banquet here that a radar chain across Canada to Labrador now can give only a 10-minute warning of attacking planes.

Declaring only 10 per cent of the continental-based U. S. bombing force could be put into the air on an hour's notice, he said it was clear that "a shocking proportion of our planes might never get into the air."

Wiley said a Russian air attack would not necessarily strike first at American cities but at key airbases.

Turbulent Winter Forecast By Old Farmer's Almanac

ROCKON, (AP) — The 1954 edition of the Old Farmer's Almanac, warns of a turbulent winter—a warning backed up by its accurate description of the early November storm which raked the East Coast Friday and Saturday.

The Almanac was in preparation for months before snow, rain, gales and wind-whipped tides struck the East Coast Nov. 6, but it predicted "at least one spinning northeast storm along the Eastern Seaboard during the first two weeks of November."

Its winter forecast, based on "an inherited formula from which science is not lacking," reads: "Turbulent, erratic, many storms of rain, snow and sleet. N. B.: The considered opinion of many authorities that winters are growing milder will not be exemplified in next winter's weather."

Truman Charges Fear Of Reds Being Used To Create Hysteria

New York, (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said last night the fear of Communism is being "manipulated by a few" to cause hysteria in the nation.

Truman made the remark in an extemporaneous speech as he received the 1952 Stephen Wise Award of the American Jewish Congress for "consistent and courageous leadership in the cause of civil rights."

In his brief talk the former President made no direct reference to the furor over Atty. Gen. Brownell's charges involving Truman and the late Harry Dexter White.

Brownell has accused Truman of promoting White in the government service after an FBI report on White's "spying activities" was sent to the White House.

Reviewing the recent history of civil rights proposals, Truman said equality among American citizens regardless of race, color and creed would have little meaning without freedom of thought and freedom of speech.

He said he was not saying that "we are about to lose these freedoms," but added: "I will say that they are under attack."

"People are being kept quiet for fear of being accused of having sympathy with Communism," Truman said.

Both before and after the award dinner Truman declined to answer reporters' questions about the White affair, meeting all questions with a smile and a "no comment." During the speech he intimated he would be willing to give President Eisenhower some advice about politics.

He said the President "is subjected to some very heavy pressures to trim a little here and there on his principles and convictions for political reasons."

Referring to the difficulty of "resisting these pressures," Truman added: "I am glad to make the benefit of my experience in this regard freely available to anyone who wants to use it."

Assessments Fail To Keep Pace With Market Values

By Peter Olwyler

Every year Monroe County real estate is assessed for less and less of what it's really worth.

That's what the State Tax Equalization Board (STEB) claims.

In 1949 county property was worth nearly $90 million. The assessment was only 23.01 per cent of that amount.

In 1950 property value was almost $81 million. Assessment was 23.02 per cent.

In 1951 real estate was valued at a lousy $89 million. Assessments—only 21.88 per cent. In 1952 property value hopped to nearly $94 million. Assessments—21.34 per cent, the lowest in years.

This year dollar assessments are up a notch—and $864,000 notch—to a total $20,820,876.

Generally speaking, the rise was spotty. It ranged from a piddling one-tenth of one per cent in Stroudsburg Second Ward to the biggest rise of all—18 per cent in Hamilton Township.

Averaged out, the county rise was 3.7 per cent.

Nevertheless two districts tanked in assessments even lower than in 1952. These were Delaware Water Gap and Stroudsburg Third Ward. Discussion of these districts will be made in other stories.

Raise of assessments in terms of percentages were:

Hamilton 18%; Tobyhanna 15%; Stroud 10%; Mount Pocono and Paradise 7%; Pocono, Smithfield and Tunkhannock 6%; Middle Smithfield and Stroudsburg Fifth Ward 5%; Coolbaugh and Jackson 4%; Chestnut Hill and Ross 3%; Barrett, East Stroudsburg Third Ward, Eldred and Stroudsburg First Ward 2%.

All the remaining districts rose 1% except Stroudsburg Second and Third Wards and Delaware Water Gap, already mentioned.

Dollarwise the biggest assessment markup was in Tobyhanna Township—$171,000 in round numbers. This puts Tobyhanna assessments at a total $1,312,000.

Second biggest was Stroud, higher this year by $144,000. Total assessments are now $1,574,000.

Next biggest was Hamilton with a jump of $122,000—putting its total assessment at $796,000.

$17,950 Still Needed To Meet Quota

Monday, Nov. 16 has been set as the deadline for solicitors to submit reports for the 1953-54 Community Chest drive in Monroe County, officials reported yesterday following a meeting at the Penn Stroud Hotel.

M. S. Baldwin, campaign chairman, disclosed the present campaign was $17,950.46 short of its $65,000 quota yesterday morning, but that the report-meeting saw additional contributions returned which will send the drive closer to its goal. Full details currently are being compiled by Miss Ethel West, executive secretary.

Contributions reported early yesterday totaled $47,149.54, according to Miss West.

Ibn Saud Dies; Son Becomes Arabian King

Bahrein, Persian Gulf (AP) — King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, who won a desert kingdom with his sword and huge revenues by shrewd oil leases, died yesterday after a long illness.

Reports reaching this Arab island said the 73-year-old king died at 10 a.m. and that his son, Prince Saud, 50, had been proclaimed king. Another son, Prince Faisal, 46, became crown prince.

The colorful, one-eyed Ibn Saud long had been suffering from arthritis and last month was reported to be in a critical condition with angina pectoris—a heart disease—at his summer palace in Taif, 40 miles southeast of Mecca.

But on Oct. 23 he cabled Britain's Queen Elizabeth II, who had expressed concern for his health, that he was vastly improved.

Three days later the ailing king, removed from Taif because of his high altitude to his capital in Jidda, was able to return to his summer palace.

The 6-foot-4 king resembled an ancient oriental patriarch, with his stern, aquiline features, pointed beard and flowing robes. Another resemblance to the patriarchs of old was the fact he had fathered about 140 children—40 sons and about 100 daughters—by numerous mothers.

Shots Punctuate Election Day In Philippine Islands

Manila, Tuesday, (AP) — Philippine troops in full battle gear rushed to Cavite province, less than 10 miles from Manila, today to quell an outbreak of election day gun fighting that left three persons dead and two wounded.

It was the first major violence reported as an estimated 5½ million Filipinos streamed to the polls to elect a new president.

Philippine News Service reported the vice mayor of Bacoor, Cavite province, and two of his bodyguards were killed in a gun battle with local police.

The wounded were identified as a special agent of Cavite Gov. Dolinador Camerino, an ardent supporter of President Quirino, and a 7-year-old boy.

Milford Inn Fire Loss Put At $100,000

Milford—One of Pike County's landmarks—Milford Inn—was virtually destroyed by fire early yesterday and insurance adjusters last night estimated the loss at $100,000.

A hundred firemen from Milford and Port Jervis brought the roaring fire under control five hours after discovery at 5 a.m. A corps of firefighters remained on the scene until noon to guard against an outbreak.

Fire Chief Foster Terwilliger and a representative of the Board of Fire Underwriters made an inspection of the fire ruins and said the blaze apparently started from an overheated chimney in the basement furnace room.

The loss, part of which is covered by insurance, included all of the contents of the inn except a number of pinball and cigarette-vending machines which were removed from the basement.

Peter Brice, a bartender, discovered the fire and notified the owner, Julius Calistine. They immediately aroused the latter's wife, two daughters, a son and a grandchild. All made their way to safety.

Terwilliger said flames enveloped practically every room with the exception of those in the north wing, the most recent addition. Here only three bedrooms were affected by fire and water.

The remainder of the three-story hotel, including its taproom, kitchen, dining room and other quarters, became charred ruins as the flames ate toward the roof.

Roof of the main wing collapsed and the interior of that section was gutted. The walls remained standing, however.

The Calistine family and Brice lost of their possessions, some by fire and others as the result of water damage.

This was the second fire in the 35-bedroom inn in recent years. A similar blaze in 1947 was confined to the ballroom, Chief Terwilliger recalled.

Built by retired New York City physician, Dr. Edward Holliday about 1860 as a residence, the building was later sold by Jacob Kleinhans and was his home until acquired by Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lyman at the turn of the century.

The Lyman added to the structure and began operations as a hotel. Several owners followed until P. A. Piercegore acquired the hotel and made further additions. Calistine bought the hotel about 20 years ago.

Lodge Pleads With Russia

United Nations, N. Y. (AP) — American Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. urged the rulers of the Soviet Union yesterday to change their mind and attitude and negotiate honestly for genuine disarmament.

At the same time, V. K. Krishna Menon, Indian delegate, presented to the 60-nation U. N. Political Committee a watered down version of his peace plan outlined in a speech to the Assembly in September.

Menon proposed that the Assembly express its desire for the elimination of atomic, bacterial and chemical weapons and all such means of mass destruction. He also urged that the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Canada conduct private and secret talks on disarmament.

Speaking in the Political Committee, Lodge attacked the Soviet proposals for disarmament as "discredited nostrums."

Brownell Declares Top Officials Got FBI Report On Spy

By Douglas B. Cornell

Washington (AP) — James F. Byrnes, former secretary of state, said last night he had urged President Truman to withdraw the nomination of Harry Dexter White to an International Monetary Fund post after learning from an FBI report of White's "affiliation with the Communists."

Byrnes' comment came a few hours after Atty. Gen. Brownell said FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover gave "full and adequate notice" of White's "spying activities" to the White House, four Cabinet officers and four other high officials of the Truman administration.

By saying that four Cabinet members and four other top officials got the FBI reports on White, Brownell broadened the sweep of his charge that former President Truman promoted the late Treasury official to represent this country in the International Monetary Fund in the face of two FBI reports that White was a Soviet spy. Truman has denied the charge and accused Brownell of playing politics.

Truman, speaking to the American Jewish Congress last night in New York, made no comment on Brownell's latest statement in the case, or on Byrnes' remarks.

Recognition Of Red China Held Possible

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles hinted yesterday the United States might consider recognizing Communist China if its Red rulers changed their anti-Western policies and stopped supporting aggression in Indochina and elsewhere.

He assailed Russia's leaders for demanding that the free world "unconditionally surrender their protective principles and practices of security" as a precondition to any East-West cold war conference.

These Russian demands, laid down in a note last Tuesday, Dulles said, are "not acceptable as far as the United States is concerned."

"The demands made on the United States," he added, "particularly those which are stated as preconditions to any meeting, are couched in language that bears little resemblance to that normally employed as between nations which are at peace."

Dulles spoke out at a news conference about the Russian and Communist China problems.

Mossadegh Threatens To Suicide

Tehran, Iran, (AP) — Ranting ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh told a court martial trying him for his life yesterday he would commit suicide if released and would not appeal if convicted. He threatened to boycott future court sessions.

Mossadegh, virtual dictator of Iran for more than two years until his ouster last August by supporters of the Shah, is accused of defying the monarchy, and dissolving the Majlis (lower house of parliament) illegally.

The 73-year-old ailing politician, still wearing gray pajamas, lunged his fist on the table and told the court soon after the second day's session opened:

"I am not going to attend coming sessions, even if you cut off my head. If you vote this court competent, you will sentence me to death. By God, I will not come to court at all."

As the hearing proceeded he warmed up, declaring: "If you like, you can sentence me to death. I will not ask for an appeal. I will stay in this prison until I die. If you release me, I will commit suicide as soon as I get hold of the means."

Byrnes, now governor of South Carolina, was one of the four Cabinet officers Brownell said got the FBI reports.

Byrnes said he got the FBI report the day before White was confirmed by the Senate.

The governor said he visited Truman the day of the confirmation and "told him, in view of the charges contained in Hoover's report, I thought he should immediately ask the Senate to withhold action and then withdraw the nomination."

Byrnes said however the Senate had already acted, so he suggested to Truman that "the only other thing he could do would be to refuse to issue a commission to White."

Truman told him, Byrnes said, that he had been advised on a previous occasion that once the Senate had acted, he could be required to sign a commission.

"I told him," Byrnes added, "if he should send for White and tell him about Hoover's report, White would never resort to the courts."

Byrnes said he got the impression that Truman was disposed to follow that course but later "I noticed in the press that White was commissioned by the President and became executive director of the fund."

Brownell said the first FBI report on White was sent not only to the White House, but also to Tom C. Clark, then attorney general and now a Supreme Court justice; the late James V. Forrestal, former secretary of defense, and the late Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, who was secretary of the Treasury at the time.

Copies also were dispatched, Brownell said, to Adm. William D. Leahy, who was personal chief of staff to the President, Lt. Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg as chief intelligence officer of the War Department, Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden, and Fred Lyon, a State Department division chief.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), chairman of a Senate investigations subcommittee, commenting on Brownell's statement, said to a reporter: "It begins to look more and more as if Truman will have to be called as witness."

"Everyone who saw the report should be called. . . to pin down whether Truman knew White was an espionage agent when he promoted him."

McCarthy emphasized this did not mean he personally plans to subpoena Truman as a witness before his subcommittee.

McCarthy said he believed Truman among other things should explain what induced him finally to get rid of White. The former President has said he got rid of White by allowing him to resign after learning that White was "wrong."

Brownell did back away a bit from an earlier statement that this first report actually was delivered to Truman in December, 1945. Yesterday's version was that the report was transmitted to Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, Truman's military aide, for the attention of the President.

In a speech at Chicago last Friday, Brownell had said:

"I can now announce officially, for the first time in public that the reports in my department show that White's spying activities for the Soviet government were reported in detail by the FBI to the White House by means of a report delivered to President Truman through his military aide, Brig. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan in December of 1945."

Brownell's latest statement said that when Truman went ahead and announced White would be named to the monetary fund, the FBI got up "a special report concerning Harry Dexter White and his espionage activities."

County Board Rules Staples Lost Election

Delaware Water Gap—A question raised by John R. Staples here as to whether he was reelected to council last week brought this answer from the county board of elections:

"No," Staples called commissioners Friday. He explained that his name appeared as "J. R. Staples" on the Republican ticket, netting 96 votes; and as "John R. Staples" on the Democratic ticket, where he won 70 votes.

The total would amount to 166 votes, or enough to put Staples in office again and defeat one of his opponents.

But the board of elections Friday said the election code does not allow the board to accumulate votes in cases like this.

The decision meant that Staples, a councilman for 24 years, now has lost his seat.

Says the election code, "pointing up the difference between printed names and write-in candidates:

"County Board may hear testimony as to the identity of the candidate for whom votes have been cast under different names by write-ins and upon proper evidence cumulate such votes. However a distinction is made as to the cumulation of votes where the name of the candidate is printed more than once for the same office on the November ballot, in which the candidate shall not be entitled to have cumulated either by the election officers, by the county board of elections or by any court, the votes cast after such different names."

There were a number of similar cases throughout the county — where a candidate's name was printed differently on Republican and on Democratic tickets. It was only in Staples' case that this failure to make the correction before the ballots were printed cost a candidate his seat.

Election officials said there was only one man in the county who did make this correction after the primary elections. He was Dr. John Lim, a Stroudsburg candidate for school director. Had Lim been unable to cumulate his Republican and Democratic votes, he would have been defeated.

County Commission Exempts Brainerd Center From Taxes

An exemption for 1954 taxes was granted yesterday to Brainerd Presbytery Center at Snyder'sville.

The center, used for a camp and Bible retreat conferences, is operated by the Lehigh Presbytery. Arlington W. Williams and Spencer Cramer appeared before county commissioners to ask exoneration of the center on the grounds it is a charitable institution.

Commissioner Granville Shiffer moved the property be exempted as requested. The motion was seconded by W. Adolph Rake, and passed unanimously.

A few minutes later Rake went on record as favoring review of a board decision earlier this year which denied tax exemption to a villa of Our Lady of the Poconos, an institution operated by the Bernadine Sisters near Mount Pocono. No action was taken on Rake's statement.

The question of taxation of the Bernadine Sisters' establishment will come up in county court Nov. 18, according to the sisters' representative, Harold C. Edwards. A hearing is scheduled at which Edwards will seek to have the commissioners' ruling overturned on the grounds that the villa is operated as a charitable and religious institution.

No action was taken on Rake's statement.

Free Tests To Be Made Next Week

Diabetes Week will be observed in Monroe County next week, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Walter Caulfield, president of the County Medical Society.

An educational and case-finding campaign will be under the chairmanship of Dr. Marshall Metzgar in cooperation with the American Diabetes Association in a nationwide program.

Aim of the campaign is to find an estimated million Americans who have diabetes but do not know they have it. For that reason the country-wide campaign is known as the diabetes detection drive.

Once found, medical authorities point out, the diabetic can be guided to medical care that will bring the ailment under control and enable him to live a practically normal life.

Diabetes is a chronic ailment characterized by inability of the body to convert sugars and starches into energy. However, modern medical methods — particularly since the discovery of insulin 32 years ago — have made it readily possible to control diabetes in most cases.

"But until the diabetic is found and his case diagnosed, these controls cannot be established," Dr. Caulfield observed.

"That is why it is important for every one to have a simple test that will indicate whether he may have diabetes or not. And experience shows that many people have it without knowing they have it."

Facilities for screening tests, which take only a few minutes of the individual's time, are included in the local committee's plans.

Tests left at any physician's office or drug store will be collected daily during the week of Nov. 15-21 and tested free of charge. Each test bottle should show name and address of person, also name of physician to be notified in case test is positive.

Be SURE First, Then Shoot...

Authentic reports of hunter-gun casualties that occurred during the early days of the 1953 small game season are being studied at the Pennsylvania Game Commission's central office. They provide facts whereby authorities determine which ones should be attributed to firearms in the hands of persons hunting wildlife.

Some deaths classified as "hunting fatalities," merely because they occurred on a hunting trip are not counted. Examples are: heart failure that could have claimed a victim during any period of overexertion, or the automobile fatality enroute to or from the hunting ground.

Apparently there were the same types of unnecessary shootings early in this small game season as in previous years. It's the same old story, the "it can't happen to me" individual who does some careless or stupid thing with a gun.

Sportsmen must keep in mind that much small and large game hunting time remains in 1953. That means plenty of opportunities for hunters to be careful and return happy, or shoot dangerously and be sorry forever.

Hunters must place restraint on their emotions when afield, to be SURE first, then shoot.

Refrigerator Laws

We already have more laws on the books than anyone can remember, but it looks as though the march of progress is making another small one necessary.

Some communities, shocked by the deaths of children trapped in abandoned refrigerators, are enacting ordinances dealing with the peril. Such a law, recently adopted by Fayetteville, N. C., sets up a $50 fine for anyone letting a refrigerator stand outdoors unless the latch is removed.

By rights, there should be a state law on this subject, but bills proposing such a law were picked in committees of the House and Senate during the 1953 session.

Since the state hasn't acted, communities should protect their children by municipal ordinances. Many people, who discard refrigerators will have the forethought to take precautions, but some can be persuaded only by the threat of arrest.

Counter-Attack

A squirrel which went berserk near York, Pa., and bit three people was checked for rabies, but the report was negative.

"Just a mean individual, I guess," observed the county game protector, who shot the beastie.

That could be an unsafe assumption. Since this is the open season on squirrels in most sections it may be that at long last they have decided to take the offensive, after concluding that they aren't dealing with a case of rabies either.

Economy Special

A magazine reports that a recipe for a salad composed of diced raw rutabagas, chopped green peppers and salted peanuts is available in a leaflet issued by the Bureau of Home Economics in Washington. It's free.

That sounds like just about the right price.

Kremlin Request Recital

"The Moscow Radio announced that it would be glad to play request numbers for British listeners." — News Item.

We read the above and, assuming they would do as much for America, we put in a call to Russia, got the Moscow Radio and said, "I have a request number."

"Very good," was the reply, "we will be glad to play the Russian Lullaby."

"I don't want 'Russian Lullaby,'" we said. "How about 'A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody'?"

"Stand by for 'Shostakovich's Sonata,'" the voice said. We were getting nowhere but persisted.

"You announced that you would be glad to play request numbers for the free world," we said.

"Certainly. Do you want 'The Volga Boatman' complete or just the chorus?" was the answer.

"Listen, have you any Irving Berlin numbers?"

"Only East Berlin."

"What about Rodgers & Hammerstein?"

"Sickel & Hammerstein only," the voice snapped.

We are no man to give up easily and asked, "Have you 'Blues In The Night'?"

"Blues in the Nyet? Nyet!" was the reply.

"Dancing in The Dark?"

"No Dancing. It destroys the five-year plan for heavy industry. You'll like Rachmaninoff."

"Don't you play any popular tunes?" we demanded.

"You want Tchaikovsky's 'Marche Slave' or a medley of Siberian folk songs?"

"Look," we persisted. "Have you 'Happy Talk' from South Pacific?"

"Russia has no happy talk from anywhere for anybody," the voice said sternly.

"Would you consider playing 'Make Believe'?" we asked.

"What is 'Make Believe'?" Moscow asked.

"It's the theme song of the Communist at Pannunjom," we explained. The man let it pass. So we suggested that old tune, "I Don't Want to Set the World on Fire" just to get the reaction.

"Ah, you mean the 'Vishinsky

Gavotte!" the voice said. "We are having troubles under the procedural rules or something," we said. "Have you 'My Blue Heaven'?"

"Okay, I play you 'My Red Cell,'" came the reply.

"Scrub Me, Mama With a Boogie Beat?" we suggested.

"No bath numbers!" the voice thundered. "It is winter in Moscow."

We were getting pretty impatient. "Could you play 'Kiss Me Again' or 'I've Never Been In Love Before'?" we asked.

"Kisses! Love! The opiate of the people!" barked Moscow. "Make sense! Ask for some real music."

"Very well. How about a medley including 'God Bless America,' 'The Stars and Stripes Forever' and 'There Will Always Be An England'?" we asked firmly.

President Patches GOP Split Over Tax Matters

Washington — President Eisenhower should have easier going on tax legislation in the coming session of Congress than the last one.

He has cleared the way for that by patching up a serious GOP split.

The President has re-established friendly working relations with Representative Dan Reed (R-N.Y.), militant chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which originates all tax measures.

Last spring the veteran legislator angrily opposed the Administration's insistence that the excess profits tax be continued to January 1 and its refusal to cut income taxes this year as demanded by Reed. He lost both fights and hotly proclaimed his intention to continue the feud in the coming session.

But that disruptive threat is now over. Peace has been restored between them on the following basis:

The administration will accept Reed's bill for a general reclassification of the innumerable tax statutes, with revisions that will save taxpayers an estimated $1,500,000,000. These gains will be in addition to the $5,500,000,000 resulting from the expiration of the excess profits tax and the emergency 10 per cent income levy.

Reed, in turn, will throw his powerful support behind the Administration's plan to raise the national debt limit—as this column reported on November 6 has been definitely decided is unavoidable by the President and his fiscal advisers.

Reed will also help the Administration shelve the social security tax increase that goes into effect January 1. The rate will go up from 1½ to 2 per cent for both individuals and employers.

The President tried to get Congress to cancel this boost last April but his request was not even considered; it was pigeonholed in Reed's Committee. But in the coming session, Reed will go to bat for the President on this issue.

The Get-Together—The President took the initiative in plugging up this serious breach in the Administration's congressional ranks.

He invited Reed to talk things over at breakfast in the White House. Only other person present was Jack Martin, able and experienced assistant of the late Senator Robert Taft and now a presidential secretary. Reed and Martin are old friends.

The President opened the discussion by inquiring how Reed was coming along on his big reclassification bill.

"(Treasury) Secretary Humphrey tells me you've just about completed work on that legislation," said the President. "I take it you will have it ready to introduce when Congress gets back."

"That's right," replied Reed. "We are now working on the final draft. It's been a tremendous job, but we are really going to finish it. During the course of our Committee hearings, we heard more than 600 witnesses from all parts of the country. My plan is to make the bill the first order of business in the next session."

"Has the Treasury been cooperating with you?" asked the President.

"Well, sort of yes and no," declared Reed. "At first, they were concerned about loss of revenue and talked about opposing various parts of the bill. But recently they told me there will be no official opposition."

"I'll go further than that," said the President. "I want you to know that I have personally instructed the Treasury to consult with you on all tax legislation before they make any final decisions. Also, Secretary Humphrey has assured me he will clear everything with you before he does anything. I have made it clear to everyone concerned that I do not want a repeat performance of what happened between us last session."

"I'm mighty glad to hear that," beamed Reed. "That suits me fine. I don't want any more quarreling, either."

The President then asked Reed's help in blocking the automatic jump in the social security tax.

"If that isn't done," pointed out the President, "the effect will be to cancel out the forthcoming reductions in taxes. The Treasury tells me 4,000,000 people are affected in this matter."

"Yes," declared Jack Martin. "This increase will void the other tax reductions for every couple making up to $3,600 a year."

"I'll talk it over with my committee," promised Reed. "and I'm pretty sure we can work out something along the line you want. I'm for giving taxpayers as much relief as possible, particularly next year."

Marxian Doctrine, Methods Use To Kill Red Espionage Destroys American Life

The position of the Defense Department on the question of security is that if there is a doubt concerning an individual, the doubt should be resolved for the benefit of the United States. In a word, the armed forces prefer that its personnel be free from suspicion. So many instances of espionage and subversion have been proved that they do not want to take any chances.

While this position is obviously correct, the question does arise as to how far the formula may be applied to relationships. For instance, if a man is married to a Communist woman, he cannot be without taint because a party member will not marry or remain married to an opponent.

In primitive jurisprudence, once a crime was committed, someone had to assume responsibility for it. Therefore, if a father committed the crime, his son could be held for it even if he knew nothing about it.

The Christian doctrine, upon which our law is based, is that each individual stands alone in the sight of God and the law; he alone is responsible for his conduct and he alone may be punished for it. The concept of collective punishment is rejected in our civilization and Western European law has been written accordingly. Sir Henry Sumner Maine, in his classic, "Ancient Law," said:

Ruth Cramer Is Bride Of Donald Barry

Miss Ruth Hazel Cramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cramer of 346 Race Street and Donald Barry, son of Mrs. Lucy Barry of 520 Queen Street and the late Oscar Barry were married on Saturday afternoon at 3 at the Pilgrim Holiness Church, in Stroudsburg.

Rev. Edward Houston performed the ceremony, and a wedding prayer was given by Jason Felter, evangelist. Miss Ruth Felterman as pianist gave a recital of wedding music before the ceremony, and also played the wedding march. Soloist was Miss Elizabeth Knierim, who sang "Through the Years," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums and greens, with white satin bows on the ends of the pews and an archway entwined with white chrysanthemums and foliage.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a gown of white nylon lace and tulle. The fitted bodice had a pleated sheer yoke, topped with a Peter Pan collar, caught with a cluster of orange blossoms. The long sleeves ended in points at the wrist and the double net skirt had a lace peplum and lace trimming around the skirt, which ended in a full court train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was hand scalloped and was held by a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

Miss Dolores Harrison, of Stroudsburg, maid of honor, wore a gown of pink lavender lace and carried a cascade bouquet of lavender pompons and yellow roses with a matching wreath in her hair. Mrs. Loretta Cramer was a bridesmaid and wore a yellow net dress over taffeta with a bouquet of orange delight roses and pompons. She is a sister-in-law of the bride.

Linda Christine Cramer, niece of the bride, and Edward Cramer, a nephew, were flower girl and ring-bearer. The flower girl wore a long lavender taffeta dress with a net overskirt and carried a basket of rose petals with a wreath of pink roses in her hair. The ring-bearer carried a white satin pillow on which they knelt for their wedding prayers.

Theodore Barry was best man for his brother. Another brother, William Barry, was escort for the bridesmaid. The ushers were the bride's twin brothers, Chester and Lester Cramer.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue lace and crepe dress with a pink hat, and the bridegroom's mother wore a dress of Fall purple lace with a pink hat. Both mother wore corsages of pink roses.

After the ceremony, a reception for 56 guests was held at the American House. The bride's table was decorated with flowers and a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom. There were long baskets of flowers on the other tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry are now on a wedding trip to the South. For traveling, the bride wore a red silk faille dress with a fur cape, black accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Mr. Barry is in the United States Navy with a year and a half yet to serve. He is stationed at Boston, Mass. On their return from their wedding trip, the bride will remain with her parents. She is employed as nurses aide at the General Hospital.

The bride is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School and the bridegroom of Stroudsburg High School.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The flowers on the Woman's Club tea table added a sunny note to the November afternoon. Though I must say that the officers grouped behind them looked more than a little startled for their picture.

If they were worrying about whether the discussion to follow on politics would become too heated, they needn't have. All very polite, it was. Well, there were some points of disagreement and given fifteen more minutes and maybe the points would have been taken off the rapiers.

Anyway, they both liked Wilson, period. And everybody seemed to like the game last night, though the chill crept up from the ground and the dampness crept in around the collar, and by the end of the game, people were sort of walking on pegs. If you know how that feels, And the concert crowd was en-

Politics On Both Sides Compared

The principles of the Republican and Democratic parties were compared at the meeting of the Women's Club of Stroudsburg at the Stroud Community House yesterday afternoon by Arlington W. Williams and Harold C. Edwards, both local attorneys.

The changes brought about to date by the Eisenhower administration, have been largely one of degree, Mr. Williams said. The basic decision that Russia was not ready for a total war was one reached by both sides, he said, and was responsible for the truce in Korea. In the matter of foreign aid, it is also a matter of degree, he said, with Dulles adopting a somewhat "tougher" attitude of asking greater contributions from foreign nations, he said.

In the domestic field, the administration is committed to some reduction in income taxes after January, and despite the "farm bloc" is still holding out for a free market for food and lessened subsidies. In this field, Mr. Williams said that it was basically a fight between the consumer and the farmer, and one which cannot be solved morally without getting in trouble politically.

After a year of study, the Eisenhower administration plans to present its legislative program to the coming Congress. Whether or not it achieves its goal of reduction of taxes, less subsidies, a cut in government spending and a balanced budget, depends on whether the issues are decided on moral instincts or political expediency, he said.

Mr. Edwards took up the Democratic viewpoint from a historical angle, going back to the division of opinion between Jefferson and Hamilton between whether the nation should be governed by the common man or by the landlords.

There have been changes in position over the years, he said, pointing to the fact that the Democrats were originally for states rights as opposed to centralization, a position largely reversed today. The Democratic party was split in two by the question of slavery and the Civil war and it wasn't until Bryan became a candidate that the party returned to its original position for the common man. Bryan's "Cross of Gold" speech has formed the basis of much Democratic belief in the championship of the individual rights over property rights, he said.

He hailed the accomplishments of Wilson and of Roosevelt after the panic. Afterwards, each speaker was given time for rebuttal, and there was discussion from the floor. Mrs. Claude Leister, program chairman, presented each speaker with a miniature symbol of his respective party.

Mrs. Walter H. Caulfield presided at the business meeting when reports were given on the various activities of the club. She invited all the members to join in the card party planned for 1:30 on December 2 for the benefit of the Independence Hall Restoration Fund, as a means of getting acquainted with other members as well as raising funds.

Mrs. Eugene Martin is representing the club on the county committee on the Restoration, which committee is also sponsoring an essay contest in the high schools of the county.

Tea was served after the meeting from a table decorated with yellow mums and yellow candles. Mrs. Henry Tucker and Mrs. Ida M. Kunkle poured. Miss Miriam Lark, Mrs. Claude D. Cramer and Mrs. Kunkle were co-chairmen of the hostess committee.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Talent is as good as money in the bank, I'm told, and maybe that's true. But the fact remains that it's as difficult to meet a person really loaded with it, as it is to make the acquaintance of a Rockefeller or a Morgan. This is why I'm so pleased by the MacPhersons—J. Harvard and his wife, Beatrice Edgerley.

It isn't enough that Mrs. MacPherson can write and illustrate her own books—including one on the history of musical instruments that is used by colleges—or that she can pilot her own plane and win reams of newspaper publicity by participation in the annual Powder Puff Derby. She is also an artist . . . and not confined to a particular type of self expression either. It is just as simple a matter for her to paint a charming young man named David, as it is to bring into amazing reality a group of gauds, or a bouquet of flowers.

As for her husband—here too is Talent Unlimited. If his mood of the moment calls for oils, he can turn out a magnificent canvas devoted to the flamboyance of hills in autumn. But if he wishes, he can work with delicate precision in water colors, and the result will be equally masterful and impressive.

It was my pleasure to meet Mr. MacPherson once again yesterday. He was sharing a late breakfast with Walter Wyckoff in our Tea Room, where seventeen paintings, by his wife and himself had just been hung. This collection, he explained, is part of a husband and wife show held recently at Mystic, Connecticut, under auspices of the Mystic Art Association. Much of this art is for sale, prices ranging from $100 for a charming red barn in water color, to $500 for a rather sizeable, completely breathtaking oil study of Sunflowers. The three portraits by Miss Edgerley are not available, of course, but she will do portraits of the individual on commission.

I wish it were possible to adequately describe the wealth of color, the depth of understanding, and the riot of imagination that gleam from our Tea Room's walls since their show began. But only the eye and the heart of the individual beholder can properly appreciate the exhibit. I can only say that if you were making the rounds with me, we would stop at length before such canvases as "Edge of the Woods," "October Scene," "Blue and Silver" and "Lola" and, if you shared my enthusiasm, you would begin wondering how you might finance the purchase of the aforementioned "Sunflowers."

"The Edge of the Woods" is, to my mind, a painting that evades description. Brilliant autumn growth against the dull green background of the forest is, in some ways, reminiscent of primitive art. Yet a contemporary feeling invades the canvas with the stark whiteness of a dead tree, rising sharply at the right. I can't describe it well; I am not an artist. But it stirs up emotions in me as easily as I might dissolve sugar in my tea with a silver spoon. And those sunflowers! Why, I wonder, did I never care for those flowers before? They are vibrant, and warm, and full of strength, even when their over-full heads droop sleepily. I can't imagine feeling disconsolate in any room they decorated.

How fortunate the MacPhersons are to have such vast talent. They probably haven't guessed it, but they've painted more than pictures. They've turned me green with envy!

Songwriters Attack Radio, TV Industry

New York (AP)—A group of the nation's top songwriters yesterday accused the radio and television industry of rationing their tunes on the air. The writers asked 150 million dollars damages.

It was cheaper, the complaint charged, for the industry to push songs it controls than to pay off the composers for the use of theirs.

Among the 33 complaining authors and musical composers was Ira Gershwin, lyricist and brother of the famous late composer, George Gershwin.

The songwriters charged that the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters organized Broadcast Music, Inc., in 1939 to create a music monopoly for its 1,099 radio and 192 TV stations.

The suit was filed by Songwriters of America, its chairman, John Jacob Loeb, told a press conference.

"The powerful groups which control the channels and outlets through which our compositions are released have put a virtual stranglehold on us. Many of us, who used to have hit after hit, have been squeezed by this monopoly to a point where we can't get our songs on the air."

Songwriter Arthur Schwartz told the reporters.

"It's our belief that they stopped playing our material and began rationing our music because they were giving preference to the music they controlled. They don't control ours."

"We do not state that our music is being cut off. We believe our music is being rationed."

Out of 797 million dollars in 1952 broadcasting revenues, the songwriters complained, only about nine million was returned to composers.

Among 17 defendants were RCA, NBC, CBS, American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters, Inc., Mutual, Columbia Records, Master Records, and the National Association of Radio and TV Broadcasters.

Lentz Case Arguments Called Off

Norristown (AP)—Legal argument was called off yesterday in the court fight to prevent a former Canadian maniacist from sharing in the estate of 70-year-old Lafayette Lentz, part heir to the million dollar fortune of his father—a Carbon County coal mine owner.

Louis Childs, co-attorney with William A. Gray for Lentz and his wife, said in Montgomery County Orphans Court yesterday that Gray had decided to stand on a previous brief listing exceptions.

Childs did not say what his next step would be in the event Judge J. Burnett Holland dismissed the exceptions.

On Aug. 3 of this year, Judge Holland ruled that Mrs. Marie Jeanne Laura Beauregard, 43-year-old former manicist, was entitled to $750 a month which Lentz assigned to her from his part of the estate of his late father, William O. Lentz.

Lentz and Mrs. Beauregard had been friends for 15 years.

The contest developed after Lentz on Aug. 15, 1952, rescinded an agreement to pay the money to Mrs. Beauregard and directed that the income be paid to his wife.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Stories of the recent storm will probably make the rounds for several weeks and many of them will undoubtedly deal with the effect the unseasonable snow had on athletics in this area. We went to great lengths talking about football and the weather yesterday, but we just can't drop the subject without relating at least a portion of the trip to Lock Haven taken by the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College soccer team. It's something that shouldn't even happen to a well-certainly not to a soccer team.

The Warriors were informed at about 4:30 p.m. on Friday that it wasn't snowing in Lock Haven at the time. Coach Howard DeNike and company took off for the home field of the Bald Eagles about an hour later. But, when ESSTC arrived at the Irvin Hotel there was plenty of snow and more cold weather than anyone knew what to do with. It continued to snow all night and in the morning there was between 25 and 30 inches of the white stuff covering the ground and all hope of playing the contest was lost.

A car lot opposite the hotel was just a mass of shapes, as the snow had drifted completely over top of all the cars on the lot. Extra blankets were needed to cover the ESSTC players the previous night and in general the Lock Haven area was hit by a real blizzard. The state police forbid the Warriors to start home before noon and when they did get underway it was a slow, tough trip. The gang arrived in Wilkes-Barre by 4 p.m., but didn't pull into the Normal Hill school until four and one-half hours later. Enroute from Wilkes-Barre the Warriors found a chance to earn a merit badge for a deed well done.

In the vicinity of Bear Creek the ESSTC bus came upon a hill that was just covered with stalled cars. The players piled out of the bus and pushed and pulled the various autos and helped them up and down the hill, until it was time for the bus to crawl up the incline. Some of the players were picked up as much as a half-mile down the road, still helping motorists in their battle to conquer the slippery driving conditions. It was an education the ESSTC booters would never have had in the class room.

Several members of the ESSTC soccer contingent remembered a similar experience two years ago when another match was postponed at Ithaca, only this time there was only seven inches of snow. The ESSTC-Lock Haven soccer encounter was cancelled, as the ESSTC budget will not allow the Warriors to make the long trip again. The scene up on Normal Hill will now shift to basketball, wrestling and swimming, although there is a field hockey contest with Drexel Tech tomorrow.

Jim Heckman, former baseball and basketball star at Pocono High school, is scheduled to be married on Friday. The reception will be at Trach's Hotel, Tannersville. Good reports are being heard from the direction of Penn State, where East Stroudsburg's John "Juice" Arnst is playing freshman football. The word making the round at the current time is that Arnst, who has been transferred from tackle to end, is now taking to his new position like a duck to water. Arnst was one of the big reasons for East Stroudsburg High's fine football team last season, a club that won eight and lost only one game.

Our advance report of the probable cancellation of the Bangor-Northampton football game yesterday was announced several hours later. The non-league affair will definitely not be played this season. The cancellation gives the Konkrete Kids a football holiday of two weeks and the club should be in good physical condition and well rested for Saturday's encounter with Stroudsburg at Northampton's Wolfe Field. The cancellation also ruined a chance for Stroudsburg coach Jerry Stulgaitis to scout the Konkrete Kids. Northampton scouts were present in last night's crowd at Gordon Giffels Field.

The Monroe County League schools, namely Polk, Chestnuthill, Coolbaugh, Tobyhanna, Barrett and Pocono, will be introduced to other members of PIAA District 11 at the District meeting at Tamaqua on Monday, November 23. The Monroe County League schools are about to launch their first year in the PIAA as a unit. Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and Bangor are also members of District 11. District 11 at the present time is made up of 71 PIAA schools.

Jim Rader, Lake Harmony baseball player who did so well in the Pocono Mountains League during the past campaign will play baseball with the Mauch Chunk Eagles this winter. Rader recently signed a professional diamond contract with the New York Yankees. The East Stroudsburg High football coaching staff didn't attend the Army-North Carolina State football game as scheduled on Saturday, due to the tough driving conditions.

Stroudsburg Machine Blasts Slatington, 27-6

Mountaineers Move Into First Place

Stroudsburg High drove to four touchdowns and into first place in the Lehigh Valley League last night, as the championship hungry Mountaineers trampled Slatington under a 27-6 score at Gordon Giffels before approximately 1,800 paying customers.

The win was the seventh of the season for the Mountaineers, who own five league victories and one tie, a 7-7 affair with Whitehall, Northampton, next Saturday's opponent, has won four games and tied one, but plays Catasauqua on the final day of the present campaign in another circuit affair. Stroudsburg also owns two non-league victories.

Stroudsburg seized on the first break of the game to score, before three minutes ticked off the clock, when an alert lineman pounced on a Slatington fumble after Stroudsburg punt. The recovery took place on the Slatington 28-yard line.

Karl Weingartner, who increased his scoring total for the present season to 66 during the course of the game, raced to the 19-yard line on a "quarterback keep," and then to the one-inch line on the same play. Weingartner, Stroudsburg's candidate for all-state honors, went over on a "sneak" on the next play and then calmly added the extra point to put the home team in front, 7-0.

Called Back

Slatington's Jack Follweiler raced 57 yards for an apparent touchdown, but the play was recalled because of "backfield in motion." Two minutes later Dave Nevil recovered another Slatington fumble on the Stroudsburg 38, and the Mountaineers were touchdown bound again. Don Garaventi, Leon Marable and Benny Miller, who ran brilliantly all night and out-gained the entire Slatington team, alternated in carrying the ball and Weingartner tossed two passes to move to the Slatington 21. Weingartner faked to Marable and then handed the ball to Miller and the Stroudsburg halfback ran right over his own right guard and traveled 21 yards for a touchdown. Weingartner again added the extra point from placement to make the score read 14-0 early in the second period.

Slatington marched 66 yards for its only score midway in the second period. The drive was culminated on a one-yard plunge by Bob Parry. Maurice Schleicher's plunge for the extra point fell short of its mark and the Mountaineers held a 14-6 advantage at this point. The Slatington touchdown was set up on the running of Follweiler and the line plowing of Schleicher. Stroudsburg struck once again in the first half as Marable returned the kickoff to the Stroudsburg 42. Weingartner made a first down on the Slatington 40 and Miller went to the 32. Marable on two tries went to the 27, from where Weingartner turned in one of his famous twisting runs with the aid of fine blocking, especially on the part of Nevil. Karl added the extra point and Stroudsburg adjourned to the dressing room for a halftime rest with a 21-6 advantage.

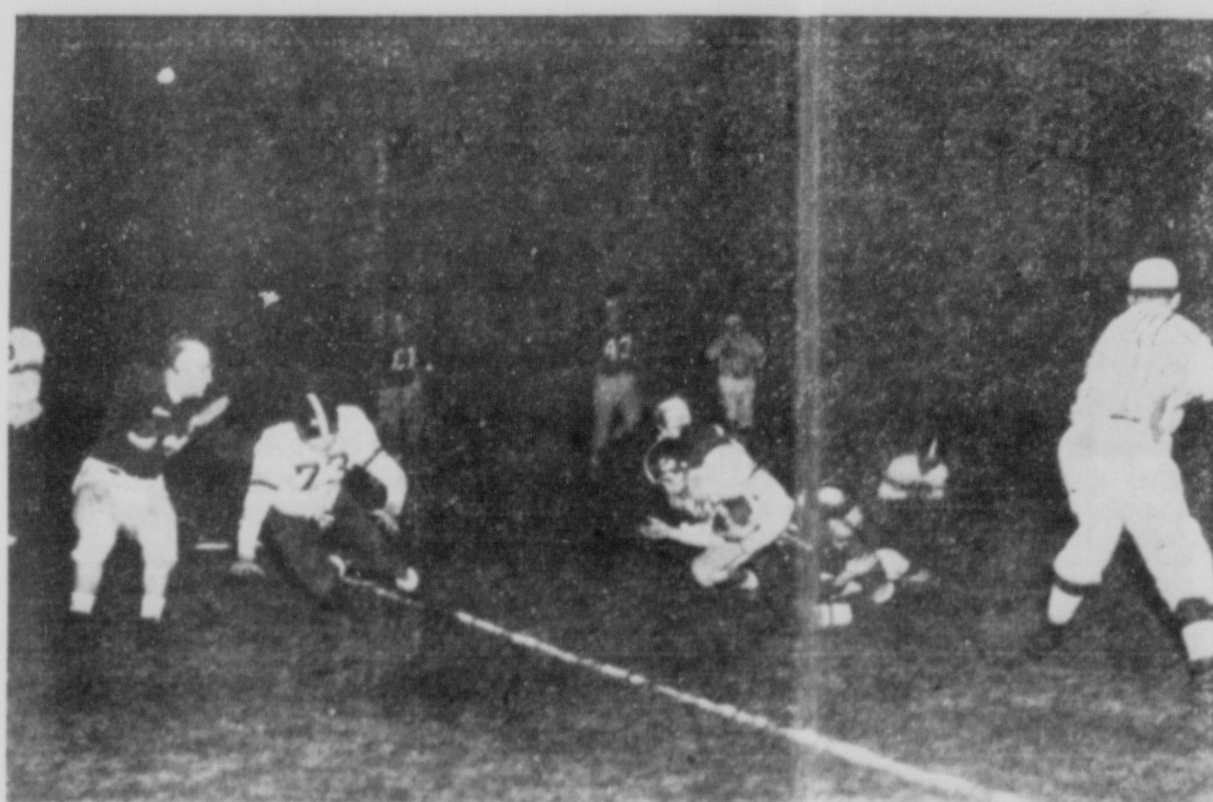

The Mountaineers came out swinging once again in the third period, but Weingartner was forced to the sidelines early in the period with a bruised shoulder.

New General

Paul "Doc" Lim took over the quarterback duties as a Slatington attack died on the Stroudsburg eight and guided the Mountaineers to their fourth and final touchdown. It was during this 92-yard drive that Miller brought the crowd to its feet, as the Mountaineers reeled off four first downs. The senior halfback banged to the 15, then the 19 and a third straight try carried to the 31. Garaventi ripped to the 39 and Miller blasted to the 46. Marable picked up four more yards and Miller stepped to the 29. Garaventi blowed to the 28 and Miller to the 24. Garaventi took a pitch out from Lim and went the remainder of the distance for a touchdown. Lim's attempted placement for the extra point was wide of its mark.

Stroudsburg had another scoring drive underway in the final period, only to have it stall on the Slatington 27. Lim mixed in two good passes on this drive, while the other backs took turns lugging the ball for 45 yards. Lim played the entire second half as offensive quarterback.

Slatington's only second-half threat was its drive to the

Pro Football Pleased With Decision On Baseball Case

Philadelphia, AP—Professional football claims the same immunity from federal anti-trust laws as baseball, a National Football League attorney said yesterday.

Thomas Hart, one of the seven lawyers who tried the NFL's recent defense against government charges the league's radio and television policy violated the Sherman Act, said he was greatly encouraged by yesterday's U. S. Supreme Court decision on baseball.

Adelman also played basketball and baseball at Stroudsburg High.

A's Reportedly Near Deal With Baltimore

Philadelphia (AP) — Unless a lot of people are wrong the Philadelphia Athletics and Baltimore Orioles soon will make a deal, with first baseman Eddie Robinson as the main pawn.

Earle Mack, a member of the newly created advisory board which is running the Philadelphia club, admitted the other day that the A's were interested in dealing Robinson to the Orioles. The big first baseman hit .247, 22 home runs and batted in 104 runs last season, but his slowness of foot and failure to hit consistently disappointed the management.

Native

Robinson is a native of Baltimore and General Manager Arthur Ehlert of the new Orioles believes the husky slugger would be a real drawing card. It was Ehlert who brought Robinson to the Athletics last winter in a deal that sent Ferris Fain to the Chicago White Sox. Ehlert, then G. M. of the A's, also obtained shortstop Joe DeMaestri and outfielder Eddie McGehe in the transaction.

The big question is what do the eighth place Orioles have that could help the seventh place Athletics?

Notre Dame Continues To Lead Field

By Will Grimsley

New York, AP—For the seventh straight week it's still Notre Dame running strong number one in the race for the season's college football championship.

The proud Irish of South Bend, who beat Pennsylvania 28-20 Saturday for their sixth straight victory, held top place in The Associated Press' poll yesterday by collecting 79 of 125 number one votes and a total of 1,159 points.

Maryland, winner of eight straight games, stuck to Notre Dame's heels in the runnerup position but other positions in the standings underwent a brisk shuffling.

Baylor, defeated by Texas 21-20, fell from third to ninth and Duke, held to a scoreless tie by Navy, dropped from 10th to 14th. Texas took over the number 10 rung, the only newcomer this week to the first circle.

Illinois, Michigan State and Georgia Tech all moved up a notch to take the number three, four and five places, respectively. Oklahoma climbed from eighth to sixth and UCLA from ninth to seventh as West Virginia, although one of the three remaining unbeaten and untied major eleven skidded a rung to eighth.

Poll

The standings are decided on a poll of sports writers and broadcasters. This week a total of 125 cast ballots, with more than half of them lining up behind Coach Frank Leahy's Fighting Irish.

At that, some inroads were made into Notre Dame's lead, probably because the Irish were hard-pressed to whip a Penn team which already had lost three games. Maryland polled 24 first place votes and received 1,034 points, 125 back of the leading Irish. Last week Notre Dame enjoyed a 156-point lead. Maryland beat George Washington, 27-6.

Once-tied but unbeaten Illinois, 193 victor over Michigan, got only four first place votes but had strong backing as the second and third best team in the country.

Next Saturday Notre Dame will play at North Carolina and Maryland will be host to Mississippi, which knocked over the Terrapins a year ago. Illinois has a date at Wisconsin while Michigan State, 28-13 winner over Ohio State last week, entertains Michigan.

Basketball Tryout Set

Stroudsburg's entry in the Blue Mountain Basketball League will hold its initial tryout session of the season at the Stroudsburg High gymnasium today. The drill session is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

Sideline, Dressing Room Happenings Match Those On Field In Stroudsburg-Slatington Tilt

Benny Miller outgained the entire Slatington team on rushing from scrimmage, 128 to 57 yards.

Karl Weingartner retired from the game early in the third period, with a bruised shoulder, but not until he had increased his scoring total from 51 to 66 points. The Stroudsburg quarterback scored two touchdowns and added three extra points from placement.

Ross Bachman, outstanding end and co-captain for the Mountaineers, suffered a bruised hand, but is expected to be on hand when Stroudsburg battles for its first football championship in 14 years at Northampton on Saturday.

The unsung hero of last night's Stroudsburg victory was Mahlon Serfass, faculty athletic manager at the W. Main St. school. Serfass directed the snow removal operations at Giffels Field on Sunday and with the aid of several students put the finishing touches on the field yesterday. The playing surface was in excellent condition at kickoff time. Many other fields were so bad in the area that games had to be cancelled yesterday afternoon.

Warren "Mag" Loney, Stroudsburg school director, picked the charges of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis to win by three touchdowns prior to last night's kickoff. Nothing short of perfect for this veteran athlete.

The entire Northampton High coaching staff and virtually every player on the squad were among the customers at last night's football show at Giffels Field. Three East Stroudsburg grid mentors were also on hand.

Neither the Stroudsburg nor Slatington bands marched, because of the wet footing, although the Stroudsburg color guard marched down the center of the field before the game began. If it were known that Giffels Field was going to be in such good shape last night, both bands probably would have marched.

Maurice Schleicher and Jack Follweiler, Slatington's chief offensive weapons, are juniors in school this year. Roy Schleicher, Slatington's coach, refers to brother Maurice almost always by his last night. Randy Schleicher, number 32, is a third brother in the Slatington football setup. Randy usually tries the extra points, but didn't last night.

Roland Jones, former East Stroudsburg State Teachers College student, is an assistant grid mentor at Slatington.

Harry Steevers and Lyle Krall, football and soccer stars this fall at ESSTC, were among the spectators at last night's game. There were also many members of the 1929 Stroudsburg grid machine on hand. This team shared the Lehigh Valley League title with Northampton. The Mountaineers are currently shooting for their second crown.

Marion To Learn Fate As Pilot Today

Baltimore (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles and Marty Marion declined to tell yesterday if he had struck out or will come to bat next year as manager of the new American League entry.

The decision will be made known today.

The delay indicated strongly that there's at least a hitch somewhere in bringing Marion here from St. Louis along with the Browns. He has a year to go on his contract with the Browns.

Marion and Art Ehlers, the Oriole general manager, spent four hours by themselves in a hotel room talking over Marion's status. Afterward, Ehlers said they had "an amicable chat and Marty's position is going to be determined in the next 24 hours when we will decide if he is going to be the manager next year."

Returns Home

Marion wasted no time in returning to St. Louis from whence he came yesterday morning. His hurried departure was interpreted in some quarters to mean the announcement was delayed until today when he would be home.

The stringbean Marion made it clear that if the news is his release it wasn't his decision. He said he didn't intend to resign and "I want to manage the club very much."

Game Postponed Again

Stroudsburg's junior varsity football game with Slatington, originally scheduled for yesterday and then postponed until today, has been postponed once again until next Monday, at 4 p.m. The Slatington field isn't in good playing condition at the present time because of the recent storm.

Supreme Court Rules Baseball Sport

By Herb Altschull

Washington (AP)—Baseball won a major victory yesterday when the Supreme Court ruled for the second time that, in the eyes of federal law, the game is a sport and not an interstate business.

This means that baseball cannot be challenged in the courts as an illegal monopoly and that the game's controversial reserve clause will stay on the books unless Congress does something about it.

Rep. Keating (R-NY), chairman of the monopoly subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee, said in the wake of the decision that he knows of no legislation in the works to put baseball under the antitrust laws or to exempt it specifically.

He said, however, it was possible the Supreme Court decision might lead to the introduction of a bill that would clarify how Congress stands on the issue.

The monopoly subcommittee studied the question extensively two years ago, but took no action.

Chief Justice Warren read yesterday's brief opinion, to which two justices dissented. It was a "per curiam" decision, that is, one issued by the court rather than over the signature of an individual justice. Apparently the court split 7-2 on the question.

Justice Burton got out a vigorous dissent, in which Justice Reed concurred.

The majority decision held that there is no reason to overturn the Supreme Court ruling of 1922, written by the late Justice Holmes, in which it was decided unanimously that baseball is not subject to the nation's antitrust laws.

"We think," Warren said, "that if there are evils in this field which now warrant application to it of the antitrust laws, it should be by legislation."

The court's decision, Warren continued, was made "without re-examination of the underlying issues" and on the authority of the 1922 ruling that "Congress had no intention of including the business of baseball within the scope of the federal antitrust laws."

Baseball men, from Commissioner Ford Frick on down, reported themselves as highly pleased with the decision.

Frick cautioned, however, that the ruling "does not mean that baseball is granted a license to do as it pleases."

"Until the decision was rendered, baseball was in a fog of uncertainty," he said. "Now the atmosphere has been cleared. From now on the responsibility is ours of modernizing baseball."

Rep. Keating commented: "I have always felt that baseball is primarily a sport and not a business. I think that is what the fans feel."

"However, our committee will, of course, consider with an open mind any legislation either to bring baseball squarely under the antitrust laws or exempt it expressly from its provisions."

Rep. Celler (D-NY), who directed the baseball inquiry two years ago, was en route to Europe and unavailable for comment.

Three cases were before the high court in appeals on behalf of George Toolson, a former farm player for the New York Yankees; Walter J. Kowalski, a former Brooklyn farm player, and Jack Corbett, former owner of an El Paso, Tex., minor league club.

Lower courts had dismissed the actions of Toolson, Kowalski and Corbett on the precedent of the 1922 decision.

In appealing to the Supreme Court, the three argued that baseball's reserve clause violates the Constitution.

Yesterday's decision did not decide that question one way or the other. It was to the effect only that baseball is not subject to the antitrust laws.

The reserve clause is a provision written into all baseball contracts to bind players to the clubs which "own" them. Their baseball services are completely controlled by the clubs which hold their contracts.

Attorneys arguing for the over-throw of the 1922 decision contended this clause puts baseball players in a position "equal to slavery."

Gault Given Chance Against Carruthers

Sydney, Australia (AP)—Australian sports writers and the public yesterday were speaking of "Pappy" Gault with more respect and giving the American bantamweight some sort of chance of taking Jimmy Carruthers' world title Friday.

The popular local boy still was a hot favorite to win over the invader from Sparta, S. C. But fans who want to back him have to put up only 2-1 odds, instead of 3-1 as it was a week ago.

The fight was to be staged in the open air at Sydney Sports Ground, starting at 7:15 p.m. (6:15 a.m. E.S.T.). It was being promoted by the Police Boys Club Federation. This is a grouping of 34 clubs in New South Wales organized by the police with the object of keeping boys out of mischief.

Carruthers, a former member of East Sydney Police Boys Club, paid all expenses of the bout, including a guarantee to Gault, of his 49 percent cut in the receipts. The boys' club federation is getting 51 per cent of the gross.

School Musicians To Play At Yule Lighting Ceremony

Christmas lighting in Stroudsburg will be turned on at 7 p. m. Saturday with a ceremony featuring Stroudsburg High School band and the High School chorus.

Stroudsburg Businessmen's Association, meeting last night at the American House, heard reports from John Muller, chairman of the Christmas lighting committee, which indicated all lights will be in place for the ceremony.

Ted Getz, chairman, received reports on the several projects sponsored by the merchants leading up to the Christmas shopping season. Frank Weller, chairman of the fund committee to finance the lights, said good progress is being made and that this phase of the project will be concluded this week.

Max Stadfeld is chairman for the turning on of the lights. Stroudsburg school authorities, including Numa Snyder, director of the chorus, and John Pyle, band director, are giving every cooperation.

Mr. Stadfeld reported on the Halloween parade sponsored by the merchants. A vote of thanks was given A. A. Widmer for the excellent manner in which he handled the numerous details connected with the parade.

Ransom Money Turns Up In Michigan Town

Potoskey, Mich. (AP)—A police chief said yesterday FBI agents have found in Potoskey and Detroit two single bills from the $600,000 Greenleaf ransom money, and are searching in Michigan for other clues to the missing $308,000.

The report created speculation that the "hot" money came into Michigan from Chicago or St. Louis hoodlums trying to pass it through professional "fences" at 30 to 50 cents on the dollar.

The FBI made no immediate comment on the report by Police Chief Philo Wakeford of Potoskey.

Wakeford said a $20 bill was received by a Potoskey boarding house operator and a $10 bill of the same serial group was located in Detroit.

All the $600,000 ransom money was in $10 and $20 bills. It was paid by Robert C. Greenleaf, millionaire Kansas City, Mo., automobile dealer, Oct. 4, in hopes that his kidnapped son, Bobby, would be returned. The boy already was dead.

The $20 bill was found last Tuesday in Potoskey by Mrs. Henry J. Krauser, a nurse at Little Traverse Hospital and part-time tourist cabin operator.

She identified the money from a list of serial numbers circulated by the FBI to banks, merchants and operators of hotels, motels, and rooming houses.

Mrs. Krauser told police she got the bill from Norman Clark, a rural mail carrier, as payment of his rent. Clark said he received it late last month when he cashed his paycheck at a Manton, Mich., filling station.

Clark said he got four $20 bills from the Foxworthy and McDaniel service station in Manton and five more from Van's service station in Potoskey. He said he paid one of the $20 bills as rent on a Krauser cabin which he occupied on his honeymoon.

There have been no arrests made in connection with the money passing and the FBI has placed developments under security restrictions.

The ransom was paid to Carl Austin Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Broyn Heady. They have pleaded guilty to kidnapping and killing Bobby and are awaiting trial Nov. 16 in Kansas City.

Police who arrested them in St. Louis Oct. 6 recovered about half the ransom from Hall. The pair was unable to account for $308,000 of the ransom although Hall said he or Mrs. Heady may have spent $8,000 on a drunken spree in St. Louis.

Police in St. Louis doubted yesterday that the money recovered in Michigan is part of that spent by Hall and Mrs. Heady before their arrest. The St. Louis authorities said most of this money has been recovered by the FBI.

The Home Extension Group with Miss Margaret MacLaren as the instructor will meet Thursday morning at 10 at the firehall. Martin Luther's Life Brilliantly Portrayed In Biographical Film Shown In Stroudsburg

MARTIN LUTHER, a film biography of events in the life of the Reformation leader with Niall MacGinnis in the title role. Filmed by Louis de Rochemont. Directed by Irving Pichel. Produced by Luther Wolff. Screenplay by Wolff and Allan Sloan. (Previewed at a special showing Monday, Nov. 9, at Sherman Theater, Stroudsburg.)

By Leonard Randolph

Out of the revolutionary fabric of Martin Luther's life, Louis de Rochemont and his associates have fashioned one of the finest film biographies ever made.

Called simply "Martin Luther," the film magnificently portrays the triumph of one human spirit against a world of rigid doctrine, fear and greed.

Deeply religious in its telling, "Luther" stays close to essential conflicts between its hero and a religion of which he is a part, but whose continuing ebb toward indulgence of sin at a price he cannot accept.

The film picks up the story of Luther as a troubled, uncertain law student; follows his renunciation of law as a profession and his entry into a monastery of the Augustinian order.

It details carefully his attempts at self-punishment of the flesh, a mission to Rome, his dissatisfactions with Holy Church interpretations of the Scripture, his eventual appointment as a professor of theology at the University of Wittenberg and dawning belief that the only true religion must come from Man's faith in God and Jesus Christ.

A major portion of the dramatic events in Luther's life are common knowledge—the nailing of the 95 "theses" of truth on the door of the church in Wittenberg; Luther's "trial" before the Diet of Worms; his "escape" on the road home to Saxony, engineered by Duke Frederick.

These events, and many others less well known, are brought to vibrant life by a film which takes its subject seriously and treats each of its characters as a human being.

Although "Martin Luther" was filmed to order for Lutheran Church Productions, it is not a propaganda film. Its producers have wisely treated their story as an epic of one man's struggle to find Truth and in so doing come closer to his God.

For this reason, "Martin Luther" is an exception among religious films. Constantly reminding its listener and viewer of the necessity for spiritual peace through dramatic emphasis, the film does not preach. Filled with honest sentiment, it never stoops to sentimentality. Treating a story packed with dramatic, nearly theatrical, events, not once does it become melodramatic. Throughout its 105 minutes of running time, "Martin Luther" emphasizes again and again its hero's hope that the difference between his own theology and that of the 16th century Roman church might someday be resolved. This dream of a unified church was destined for defeat—but the dream was an all-important part of the man himself.

Because it does not spare the strength of its own convictions, "Martin Luther" stands head and shoulders above the so-called "inspirational" movies of the past decade. Because its story is true and its makers have not been afraid to deal with Truth without the embroidery of fiction, it is a better film and a manifestly more entertaining one than any of the pseudo-religious torments manufactured by hack Hollywood writers for "mass appeal."

Its production values are powerful ones. Irving Pichel has directed the movie with a wonderful blend of story-telling, occasional humor, honest suspense and great integrity, from a nearly-flawless script.

Adhering to the clean, austere compositions of standard de Rochemont documentary studies, Joseph Brin has photographed the story with startling dramatic effect while Mark Lotter's musical score augments, but does not intrude upon, the unfolding events.

"Martin Luther" is aided immeasurably by good casting, also. In the leading role, Niall MacGinnis gives one of the most controlled, fervently understated performances within memory. In two of the film's finest scenes—the debate between Luther and John Eyck and the Diet of Worms trial—MacGinnis sweeps the screen with an inner, new-born fire seldom seen in motion picture performances.

Nearly all the roles in the film are cast well—some of them, like the lead, with a seemingly matchless perfection.

A local showing of the film will begin a one-week run Wednesday, Nov. 18, at the Sherman Theater, Stroudsburg.
